

PROTECT IT SYSTEMS FROM VIRUSES AND OTHER THREATS

Let ConnectWise shield your network from malicious code with comprehensive, multi-tiered virus protection for your desktops, file servers, e-mail servers, and Internet gateways — as well as your remote and wireless devices.

CONNECTWISE OFFERS ANTI-VIRUS PROTECTION WITH EASY PAYMENTS ... PLUS PROFESSIONAL MONITORING

It's estimated that worldwide, computer viruses cost businesses more than $55 billion every year — with about 31% of malicious activity taking place in the United States. On top of the monetary damages wrought by malicious code in the form of trojan horses, spyware, worms, and bots, there is the sheer frustration of cleaning up the mess left by a virus attack. Not surprisingly, responsible business owners and managers seek to safeguard their invaluable data and IT systems from these Internet threats.

To attain this security, businesses are typically expected to lay out hundreds, if not thousands of dollars in upfront licensing fees to install anti-virus software. From there, effectiveness depends almost exclusively with the application being used — no one actually monitors the anti-virus measures to see that protection remains in place. Now ConnectWise offers you a better choice.

The ConnectWise alternative to this outdated method provides:

- Monthly billing for service, allowing payments to be made over the course of a year, versus a single, huge subscription renewal
- Professional monitoring of your anti-virus protection to ensure all the latest updates, patches, and definition files have been applied
- Single installation for immediate, company-wide system protection
- Simplified management and reporting from an integrated, Web-based console
- Centralized hosted management and reporting allowing you remote monitoring without the additional software or hardware investments
- Lower total cost of ownership without additional software, hardware or resources investment
- Unique, all-in-one solution, with leading technology, at a small business price

With ConnectWise, you'll enjoy real peace of mind with your anti-virus protection — without having to bust your budget.
